This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE

THE establishment of the Incorporated Law Society's Library is of comparatively recent date. In June 1828 Mr. Metcalfe, one of the original members of the Society, presented to the Council as a nucleus for the Library a complete set of the 'Statutes at Large.' At the same time Mr. Bryan Holme, whose portrait hangs in the great hall, contributed many valuable books on topography and similar subjects, and continued making gifts to the Library at various times until his death in 1856. In the year 1869 a most valuable and almost unique collection of books which had belonged to the Rev. Joseph Mendham of Sutton Coldfield, Warwickshire, was, after his death, very generously presented to the Society by a member of his family. Among these books are many rare editions of Liturgies, Missals and Breviaries, and also some books and pamphlets relating to Theological controversies, which perhaps even now may sometimes be of value to solicitors.

The Library was first located in the present building in 1832. The number of books in that year was but little over 1,000, in 1841 it amounted to 6,000, and in 1851 to 10,000. There are now 36,466 volumes, and additional space, both for books and readers, is greatly needed.

In recent years the Library Committee has been occupied chiefly in the acquisition of legal works, and it is hoped that in this department the Library is as perfect and complete as possible, but at the same time a considerable number of books of more general interest, including works on Archæology, County and Local History and Heraldry, has been added to the collection.

The present Catalogue has been arranged on the 'dictionary' principle, the names of authors and subjects being placed together in alphabetical order. In most cases books may be found either under their authors' names or under the subject of which they treat, but exceptions have been made in the case of books which are less generally used: for instance, the Old Law Books in the gallery have been entered according to their authors' names only, and the pamphlets according to subjects only. The Modern Law Books are, in nearly every case, entered both under the names of the authors and under the subject matter of the books; those referred to under the latter heading are arranged chronologically, the latest published works being placed first. A separate catalogue was made of the Mendham Collection in 1871, which will shortly be reprinted.
